

Three Ontario Colleges Expel Coed Failures

Queens, Hamilton Put Men, Women On Same Basis

Toronto (CUP), January 14.—There have been no official regulations formulated for any university with regard to expelling women students whose work is not satisfactory, nonetheless three of the nation's institutes of higher learning have required them to leave classes.

The question was not discussed at the conference in Ottawa last week end, but one official has stated that the various college heads thereat assembled agreed that there would be no discrimination between men and women students.

No definite decision has been reached at Varsity as to the female students whose work is not satisfactory, but, in the case of men, their names will be forwarded to the War Services Board, although they will not be required to leave the University as yet. Women students will probably be dealt with in the same manner, except in flagrant cases of inability.

Kingston (CUP) Women students at Queens are affected in the same way as the men by the new regulations. Thirty-four women will be asked to leave the University as a result of the publication of examination results.

Hamilton (CUP) According to the Chancellor of the University an unestimated number of women students will be required to quit their studies.

London (CUP) Western University has as yet taken no steps with regard to female students, pending the announcement of examination results. President Fox, however, states that there will be no discrimination between men and women.

Russian Colleges Carry On While Country Fights

117,000 Experts Were Graduated In The Spring

Kingston.—(CUP)—"Russian universities are carrying on at a high level of efficiency," Nikolai Krasavchenko, 25-year-old leader of the Russian delegation to the International Student Assembly, said in an address to students of Toronto Varsity a while ago. No universities have been closed, although many of them, including over 500,000 students, have been evacuated from enemy-occupied territory to safe locations east of the Ural mountains.

"Last spring," he continued, "117,000 young experts were graduated from our universities. Some of them have curtailed their curricula, but there has never been any thought of closing them." In Russia, he explained, the university student is considered to be as essential a member of society as the munitions worker or soldier. The Russian government feels the need for graduating large numbers of trained men, in war or peace, simply because they are useful to the

On the Russian Front

Russian troops advanced in continuing their offensive in the Caucasus, and captured four more large populated places and railway stations, Moscow announced last night.

Advances also were scored along the lower Don river, where additional points were taken and about 1,000 Germans were killed and 22 tanks disabled, the communique.

Essex Bombed

It was revealed that the R.A.F. paid a visit in heavy bombers to Essex. The attack and bombing lasted for twelve minutes in which the famous Krupp works was blasted with a hundred tons of bombs.

Only four bombers were lost after the concentrated attack, the eighth time in eleven nights that the R.A.F. has bombed Germany, and the third straight night that the industrial Ruhr has been hit.

Portia White, Contralto, Gives Recital In R.V.C. Gymnasium This Afternoon

Bernard Naylor Is To be Accompanist; Special Student Tickets Are Available

Portia White, the noted young Negro contralto, accompanied by Bernard Naylor at the piano, will give a recital in the upper gym at R.V.C. this afternoon at 5.00 p.m. The programme will be as follows:

Miss White has enjoyed a brief but brilliant career. Her first appearance was at Toronto where she was acclaimed a most promising singer. Her first concert was given in church auditoriums and consisted largely of interpretations of well known hymns. She has been favorably compared with the American Marion Anderson. Her accompanist, Bernard Naylor, is noted as an orchestra conductor. He is at present conducting the Little Symphony of Montreal in its maiden series of concerts.

This is the second in a series of concerts sponsored by the Women's Union, of which the first featured the Canadian pianist, Ross Pratt. Those in charge expect to present further concerts in the course of the year, the number of which will depend on the attendance at this.

Maccabean Circle Meets To Hear Dr. Petegorsky

Dr. David W. Petegorsky will address the Maccabean Circle on "Jews in the Post-War World" on Sunday. He will analyze in his talk the various aspects of the seeming reorganization of things after the conflict, with special reference to their effects upon the Jewish Nation.

The meeting will be held in the McGill Union, where, at 3.00 p.m., prior to his talk, recordings of the Mikado in its entirety will be heard. It is at the request of certain members of the circle that the whole operetta will be presented.

International Post-war Trade To be Discussed

Economists Will Hear Lawrence Jack

The state in which International Trade will find itself when the war is over will be the topic of an address to be delivered to the Political Economy club next Thursday at 8.00 p.m. in the Union. The speaker will be Mr. Lawrence Jack, who is connected with the International Labour Office now established at McGill.

Mr. Jack has attended McGill University, as well as the Universities of California, British Columbia, and Oxford. He is at present working on Post-War International Problems, and is writing a doctor's thesis here at McGill on "The Control of Municipal Finance."

He is expected to discuss before the Club the subject: "Post-War Problems in International Trade." His connections with the International Labour Office gives him a wide knowledge of his subject from which to draw.

Commerce Upholds State Control

Purvis Hall Dance And Sleigh Ride Are Considered

The Government of the Commerce Debating Parliament successfully upheld the resolution "Resolved that measures of Government Control over Canadian Industry in the post-war period are essential to the best interests of Canada as a nation," at the first session of the house held last night in the Grill Room of the McGill Union.

Mr. P. F. Vineberg, of the Economics Department, acted as Speaker of the house. H. E. Brazer and M. Rossy, both fourth year students in the School of Commerce, represented the Government on this question, while J. Beaton and L. Månolsson, third year commerce students, spoke for the Opposition.

The Government, led by Brazer, presented a case for the maintenance of full employment. It supported public works schemes for the attainment of the stage of full employment and at the same time al-

Cosmos Adopt War Fund Levy, Get Club Pins

Plans Made to Form Federation Of Cosmo Clubs

The Cosmopolitan Club held a business meeting in the lunch hour yesterday at which several important decisions were made with regard to club policy, and a long-planned innovation was introduced in the form of the new club pins.

The most important decision arrived at was the unanimous passing of a resolution that the club would in the future at all times follow the recommendation of the War Council wherein all campus clubs are urged to increase their admission prices by ten per cent, and to turn the extra amount collected over to the McGill War Fund. A joint statement of such an action, and a recommendation to all other clubs to follow suit, was made by the Cosmopolitan Club and by the Newman Club, McGill's two largest groups yesterday.

After this action was completed, and other minor points of business had been cleared up, the club heard a letter from Mrs. Roosevelt, whose appearance in person, the executive regretted, had not been possible.

TUBERCULOSIS TESTS AT VARSITY

Last year the University of Toronto conducted T.B. tests of the student body. Of 2,060 examinations, 14 positive cases were found. Six of these were open cases, necessitating immediate removal to a sanitarium. X-ray examinations are again being conducted this week, in conjunction with the Ontario Department of Public Health. Facilities for the examination of 400 students per day have been provided.

NEW C.O.T.C. COURSES AT MANITOBA

Two special courses are being given this term for members of the Manitoba C.O.T.C. The first of these is a course in Military Camouflage, to be given by Prof. Russell of the Architecture Department. This course, of 8 week's duration, may be taken instead of one parade a week. Prof. Shanks of the Engineering Faculty will give a second course in Motor Transport Maintenance. Both courses require one year's previous basic training.

SCM Will Gather for First Chapel Service

The coming Sunday, January 17th, the SCM will hold its first Chapel service of the year, in Divinity hall at 7.30 p.m. The service will be conducted by the Rev. Gerald Cragg, who is on the teaching staff of the United Theological College, and Chairman of the National Council of the SCM.

After the service there will be an Open House at the SCM house, 3574 University St. There will be a short period of singing, after which Morton Freeman will speak on "New social directions." Refreshments will then be served, and everyone will have a chance to get together informally and talk with Mr. Freeman.

Graduate Students Will Hold Dance Tomorrow

The Graduate Students' Society will hold a dance tomorrow night in the Union Grill Room. During the course of the evening refreshments will be served to regale the dancers.

This is the second informal dance which the Graduate Students will have held this year. Those who wish to attend this dance are requested to make enquiries as to the obtaining of tickets and other similar matters of some member of the executive. A list of the executive will be found in the McGill Handbook.

Red Cross Benefit Informal Will be Danced to Strains Of Blake Sewell's Orchestra

Refreshments Will be on Hand Tickets May Still be Obtained

An informal dance in aid of the Red Cross will take place to-night in the Ball Room of the McGill Union. The music of Blake Sewell will be featured.

Dancing will commence at 9.00 p.m. and will continue till 1:00 a.m. The tickets, which cost $1.50 each, may still be obtained from the Union Tuck Shop, from Bill Gentleman in the Arts Building, and from Fred Barton in the Engineering Building. It has been announced by the Union House Committee that it will be possible to obtain tickets at the door.

The Union Cafeteria will remain open during the evening to supply refreshments to those desiring them.

The Union House Committee and the McGill War Council are the joint sponsors of the dance. The part of the Union has been to make arrangements for the dance, which will be in the nature of one of its regular series of informals. The part of the War Council will be the collection of the funds to be donated to the Red Cross. For this reason the usual price of a Union dance has been somewhat increased.

Funds To Red Cross

It is expected that the Red Cross will derive over $300.00 from this event, owing to the Government regulation that all benefits for war charities of any sort must turn over seventy-five per cent. of the gross receipts to the charity for which the event is being held.

Last year a similar informal was held under similar circumstances. The large attendance at the dance netted more than $270.00 for the Red Cross.

Formal Vetted

It was proposed this year as last to hold a series of formal dances across the country on a given night, the proceeds of each and every

Book Exchange Opens for Sales

Only Opportunity To Buy Secondhand Books Afforded

The Book Exchange will open today from 9 a.m. till 2.00 p.m. to sell books. Text books in half-courses in science, English and languages will be available. Students are asked to come early, as the books are going to be on sale for one day only, and the supply of books is limited. For the benefit of those who have not as yet visited the Book Exchange, it is situated in the basement of the Union.

The date at which students should come and collect their money will be announced later. Students are again reminded that a slight fee is deducted from the sale price of each book in order to cover the cost of the sale.

Philosophical Society To Discuss Nietzsche

At a meeting of the Philosophical Society to be held in the Common Room at R.V.C. Tuesday at 8.15, a fourth year Science student will speak on the subject "Friedrich Nietzsche, the Man and His Work." This is the first meeting of the Philosophical Society to be held this year and the executive assures students that the topic to be discussed will prove of interest.

War Council to Sponsor Book Drive to Aid Troops

Each Student Should Give At Least Four Magazines

On Monday morning the book drive sponsored by the War Council will get under way. The object of the drive is to obtain 10,000 books and magazines for distribution among members of the country's armed forces; and barrels or boxes for the reception of the reading matter will be located in the Union, the Arts, Biological, Engineering, and Medical Buildings, in the Redpath Library, in the Royal Victoria College, and in Douglas Hall.

A member of the War Council stated that, for the drive to go over the top, each student should bring at least four books or magazines to add to the drive. He pointed out that these books should contain suitable material for the perusal of the men in the services, suggesting that pocket editions of books and many magazines would be in particularly great demand.

He mentioned that the Canadians in Egypt, for example, were almost entirely dependent on books collected in this manner for reading material and that the present demand far exceeds the supply. The troops in Britain, where books are more readily accessible, still desire a considerable supply of magazines. He ended by appealing to McGill students to turn out the books and magazines that are at present merely serving to gather dust and put them into this drive where they can best be appreciated.

Avukah's Next Meeting Is Planned for Monday

Avukah will hold its first meeting of this term on Monday at 5 o'clock at 527 Sherbrooke St. W.

The program is an extensive one consisting of a presentation of this term's activities and a report on the mid-winter conference.

Students who could not attend the conference because of mid-term examinations, should make a point of coming on Monday in order to acquaint themselves with the resolutions which have been passed.

The Avukah Executive also announces a J.N.F. meeting to be held on Sunday at 2 o'clock at 537 Sherbrooke.

OBE Awarded To Crutchlow

Former Student Society President Receives Honour

The Order of the British Empire has been accorded to Surgeon Lieutenant-Commander E. F. Crutchlow; the details of the award have not as yet been announced, but it is presumed that the award is for service with the Royal Navy, to which he is on loan.

Lieutenant-Commander Crutchlow, who is thirty years of age, is a graduate of McGill. He was well-known around the Campus, and held several important positions, notably that of President of the Students' Society during the session 1937-38.

He has been on naval service since February 1941; the exact nature of his work is not disclosed. He has a wife and one son, both of whom reside in Scotland. He is the son of Mrs. Crutchlow of 660 Henderson Ave., Westmount.

What Price Enlisting?

The Arts, Commerce and Law Faculties were given a new lease on life at last week's University Staff meeting in Ottawa. Mr. MacNamara, speaking for the Government, has stated that Ottawa recognizes the long-run value of the so-called non-essential students. Dr. James commended this "generous attitude" upon his return. And we in turn repeat our endorsement of the government's attitude.

Although every capable student has official justification for remaining at college, his individual problem is far from settled. For the large proportion of students in the above faculties who are deliberately training for the monumental task of reshaping the social and economic order, the dilemma still exists.

Many a competent student, who has little fear of being flunked out does not consider the recent Ottawa decision "an apology" for his student status.

Looking well into the future, how can these students be made most valuable for the years of peace that are to come? Should they remain independent of the actual conflict, intent on analysing war causes and preparing methods for their solution? Perhaps, yet this might well jeopardize their whole authority in the eyes of the public and thus defeat their purpose in remaining at college now. Nevertheless the need for men who can cure our social and economic ills cannot be underestimated. Should they be slaughtered off at the crisis of the situation, leaving our country in the hands of aged and otherwise incompetent people?

On the other hand, these students are likely to have much more prestige ten years from now, if they have served for the cause which they promote at home. Many people feel that unless one has played an active part in the war effort, "he does not know whereof he speaks." Right or wrong as this may be, it is bound to become a very prevalent attitude in the post-war years. The force of public opinion is both keen and blunt. It may make or break these same students.

This, then, is the heart of the problem, yet unanswered. Each student must find the correct course to choose for himself. No person is capable of doing it for him. Twenty years from now, we may be able to give a final conclusive answer.

Freshmen Beware!

Noticeable among the number of "flunkers" who were expelled from Queen's and Varsity this year was the high percent of first year students. In both cases the number of Freshmen who failed to meet up with the required standards far surpassed those of other years. This is not surprising, since their has always been a larger percent of failures in first year courses than in others.

Students and especially freshmen should regard low marks even in class tests as a serious warning of worse to come. Failures and border-line passes should be enough to give any conscientious student the realization that he must dig in and work from today on. Exams come nearly two months earlier at McGill than at most of the high schools and prep schools from which Freshmen come, and last minute plugging is too dangerous for any student who honestly wants to continue his studies at the university to depend upon. Students who went west as harvesters should have more than caught up with the work they missed by now. They must not think that because they were allowed to take a month out from studies they will be given particular consideration for slackness.

The greatest problem of the freshman has always been the way in which he ought to divide his time between studies and student activities. Actually the difficulty is not that he enters too many extra-curricular activities but that he wastes time.

Free periods between lectures can be spent more profitably reading English 2 or catching up on behind work than chatting over a cup of coffee or a cigarette. While there has never been any set amount of time that students should spend studying per day, freshmen should spend from three to five hours on assignments and suggested extra work varying according to the ability of the student concerned.

The seriousness of working steadily from day to day cannot be overstressed and no student should feel that he has the right to do his minimum when the rest of the world is doing its maximum.

Mike and Ike

Seems Radio Is Here to Stay:

During the past term McGill has suddenly become radio conscious. Mike and Ike, a new acquisition to the field of radio columning will attempt to inform the radio addicts of the campus of the latest developments in broadcasting. Every day to the "Daily" office the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, Columbia Broadcasting System, the National Broadcasting Company send reams of information concerning the various programs going out over their networks. Mike and Ike will attempt to sift these items and present the most interesting.

The Radio Workshop

This organization which was started on the campus last year has caused considerable comment in radio circles both in Montreal and Toronto. Although other universities have their own broadcasting stations, the Workshop is the only organization of its kind which has undertaken to study the theory of radio drama and go into the technicalities of production. It is run entirely by students and has obtained the whole-hearted co-operation of members of the radio business in Montreal. Among them are Lawrence Thor and Phil Lalonde. At the moment the Workshop is producing four programs for the Canadian Nutrition Campaign. The Workshop also intends to produce various programs in connection with the war effort and several original plays. It is also developing talent in the University. We strongly recommend that anyone with dramatic inclinations should join this unique organization.

Recommend Listening

Each day Mike and Ike will compile a list of programs which will make, in their opinion, the best listening. Here is a general list of programs to be heard next week. Friday, January 15th, 8:05-8:30 p.m.—The Show Is On, an original comedy show written by Ruban Ship, former drama editor of the McGill Daily, on CBM. Tuesday, January 19th, 8:05-8:30 p.m.—CBC Drama Hour, produced by Rupert Caplan on CBM. Every Sunday, from 7:30-8:00 p.m.—the best original Canadian Radio Scripts are presented over the CBC network. And, of course, our old stand-bys of a Sunday evening: Jack Benny, Fred Allen, and the Army Show.

Girls in Uniform

The Canadian women who wear the badge of Athens are members of the Canadian Women's Army Corps, affectionately named the "CWACS," and they are one of the best trained, best dressed and best fed organizations in World War Two. On Friday, January 15 at 10:15 p.m. EDT, 11:15 p.m. ADT, all members of the Corps will receive tribute in a special edition of CBC's "Comrades in Arms" programme. Captain Dick Diespecker will claim the programme highlight for an actuality and dramatized feature from the C.W.A.C. at Kitchener, Ontario, which is the only camp of its kind in the world. It is staffed throughout by women and the broadcast will give Canadians just a glimpse of what has been achieved at this unique centre. Strict discipline and perfect condition are not the exclusive virtues of the men in the armed services; first to recognize and applaud the amazing accomplishments of Canada's women's army are their brothers in arms. The latest news of Canada's sailors, soldiers and airmen also will be featured on this week's programme presented by the combined services.

People and Places

Rupert Caplan is to be in the Maritimes for two weeks arranging and producing several school broadcasts which are to be heard over the CBC National Network. The veteran Montreal producer-director will in addition to his production assignments hold several auditions periods. Rupert Caplan appeared on the first commercial programme to originate in Montreal; since that time he has devoted himself to radio and the theatre, he has directed some of the most notable stars of stage and screen, and he has created outstanding radio roles himself.

Varied Verse

Symbols

Aching cold crystals, the stars tonight
See the sickle of my eye sweeping through them . . .
How it sticks to one silent steel point
And is seared by a singeing flame
Which in those arctic spaces
Blazing ecstatic off an axe-edge races.

Corpse-cold, I reel
And fall. A rose tree
With glass flowers comes upon the corner
Of my eye.
Behind it all the stars wheel.
But one surgeon's needle
Piercing me, closes my frosty eyelids.

Icicles among the stars
I sleep.

—LOUIS DUDEK.

Patates au Four

You put a man in a dry oven
And let him dessicate
Like a potato.

Then you carefully remove him
And daub him with a sponge
Making the skin moist.

Do you think that he will send out shoots?
Do you think this tubercle
Will father generations?

—LOUIS DUDEK.

On Europe

Shall we be worthy of thy heritage?
Shall we forsake thee when thou most us needest?
Thy mind was ours and the blood thou bleedst
Is ours also.

Thy generation must reconquer its own age;
Must shape and formulate its own conception
Of happiness and truth and life,
Must liquidate antiquated misconceptions
Of man as bound and Delly as strife.

Free minds bound; but by their own delusions
Nurtured on elders' predilection crimes
Remodelled and reblessed to suit the times,
And by intolerable self-asserting massintrusions
Into the realm of independent individual thought Blindly exterminating then themselves exterminate.

Yet thou shalt live, perhaps only to hear thy nations
Our voiceless voices sounding joyously through timeless space,
Telling the Gods of an amazing race
Which had forgiven them their own creation.

The Fortunate Ones

Arsene yanked the wheel of the truck viciously and it skidded sullenly around the gaping shell-hole.

"I always wanted to see Greece," he said to Francois beside him. "The posters in the station at Montreal were so beautiful."
"It is not so beautiful in wartime," Francois was tired.

The lights of the truck ploughed a way through the black rain and night and battered themselves against the rear of the convoy ahead. They showed nothing else, but on the curves when they swung out over the fields there were glimpses of shattered trees and houses. No, Greece was not beautiful in wartime. War made everything the same. France had been this way, too.

"The papers will call this a strategic retreat," muttered Francois cynically. "There will be another glorious victory like Dunkirk."

Arsene cursed and gripped the wheel more tightly. It was a harrowing business, this fighting a war on the run. But what army could stand up to one superior to it in numbers and equipment? Courage will not stop a tank, but it will a bullet. He didn't fear death, but he most certainly didn't wish for it. It was the havoc wrought by the war that terrified.

Driving by night was much to be preferred.
One didn't see the mutilated bodies of the peasants sprawled grotesquely about their ruined homes. The scarred beauty of the country in spring was shrouded by the blackness.
The refugees, pitiful in their terror, slept at night. Yes, the darkness was comforting and undeniably for the best.

Where would it end? Would they never be satisfied until they had destroyed and liberated the whole world? Would it go on until nothing remained but destruction and homeless empty people? He shuddered and passed his hand over his tired eyes.

"We are very fortunate, Francois," he said suddenly.

The other made no reply but it was obvious
he was awake and listening. Arsene continued in a dead voice.

"Do you remember Tom? We met him farther north. He was from London."

The truck lurched sickeningly and went on.
"He has nothing to fight for now. They got his home and family. Yes, we are very fortunate. In Montreal, my Marie is safe."

—WILLIAM E. SPONGE.

Letter Forum

The Editor, McGill Daily.

Dear Sir,—I would like to criticize very strongly the opinions expressed in the editorial of the January 14 issue of the Daily entitled "Why Some Are Here", and other articles of a similar nature that have been appearing too often lately.

The writer of the editorial seems to think that the government should undertake a "publicity campaign pointing out to the nation how necessary it is that students remain at college, and prepare themselves not only for war but also for the pursuits of peace," and he then has the audacity to suggest that "each student sit down and devote time to thought, deciding why he is at college." What a laugh! Does the writer propose that students, who are at present taking completely non-essential courses and who feel that their best place may probably be in the armed forces, should sit down and draw up a list of arguments to convince the average citizen, who is being mobilized for total WAR, that the student has been chosen to study for total PEACE?

The best contribution any person can make at the present moment toward preparing our post-war world is to do everything in his power to defeat our Fascist enemy.
That will be his contribution to the building of a just peace. Let us not fool ourselves. The Canadian people, especially those who are in the Armed Forces and those who are sacrificing in other ways to help achieve victory, will not permit our Post-War world to be planned by physically fit men and women who spent their time studying non-essential courses, at a time when even their own university was threatened. Our post-war world will be built by the men and women who really deserve to plan the future of the Canadian people. They are the ones who are willing to fight for their freedom, in the armed forces, in industry, and on the essential war home front.

How many students are acquainted with the results of the Student-Staff Council which met here at Mc-Gill during the Christmas holidays under the sponsorship of the Student Executive Council, and chaired by Principal James? The proposals resulting from this conference were truly representative of the opinion of the whole Canadian student body, as opposed to the remarks in recent Daily editorials.
Here are some of them:

- (a) Speed-up of ALL courses;
- (b) Establishment of a Joint Selective Service Board;
- (c) Establishment of a Women's Officers' Training Corps at McGill;
- (d) Male Arts students of high second class standing only should be allowed to continue their studies after receiving their call-up notice;
- (e) Continuation of Student-Staff meetings to discuss the function of a wartime university.

Such were the positive proposals coming from various student committees. Similar proposals were passed at the recent Student-Staff Council of the University of Toronto. Positive total war mobilization—that is the desire of the Canadian student.

Let us break away from President Cody's definition of the role of the university, "to conserve the teachings and amassed learning of earlier generations." The function of the University at the present moment is to contribute a maximum number of officers and skilled personnel to the war effort. The contribution of the University must be integrated with the contributions of every phase of Canadian life for a united effort to wipe Fascism from the face of the earth.

Sincerely,
M. FAINSTAT,
Eng. III.

Cross. How far other Canadian universities will co-operate in this plan which originated from the university of British Columbia is not known, but it was decided that such a project was out of the question at McGill because of the restrictions placed by University regulations on the number of formal dances which may be held in a year. It is for this reason that McGill is holding its own informal dance.

The students of McGill have several times aided the Red Cross in its work. They have volunteered to contribute to the blood-bank and the number of those who have done so is barely yet exhausted. They have also contributed through the medium of many charity campaigns to the finances of the organization.

Tid-bits from the College Papers

"This statement coming from the director of Selective Service serves in some measure to emphasize the Government's willingness—may desire to have students of a sufficiently high academic standard continue their studies in the humanities, social sciences and other so-called non-essential subjects."

The McGill Daily

"But it is impossible to overlook the fact that we seem to stand on the very brink of revelation of what the Government actually intends toward Universities. And after months of hints and rumours, interspersed with trial to inflate and elevate them, even bad news in this regard may come as a certain relief."

Bobby Bell's Boys Battle Bombers

Redmen All Set to Prove A Thorn in Airforce's Side

League's Leadership in the Balance; Tars and Army Battle for 2nd Place

A winning Red team is on the warpath again, which means that anything is liable to happen at the Forum tonight. The McGillians are all set to out-rat the low-flying Flyers, who seem to be most unlucky against the collegians. The two teams will meet for the third time tonight, and the Red pucksters hope to give the R.C.A.F. the juice, for the third time also.

SNAPPY HOME TEAM.

Bobby Bell's Collegians have lived up to all expectations. Hopes were running high at the beginning of the season, but the Red puckster suddenly flopped in two consecutive games. They quickly snapped out of it, however, and took the winning road with a vengeance. They are now out for their fourth consecutive victory, and having thus far gained the first position in the League they intend to keep it. The R.C.A.F. Spitfires will have to man all their guns if they don't want to make a forced landing.

FLYERS FEATURE PROLIFIC SCORERS

The Airmen are however holding an ace up their sleeve. Two of their first line men occupy the top position in the scoring battle. Planché and Desbiens have been sparking their team since the beginning of the season. In last week's tilt Desbiens sniped all three counters, with Planché the assistant in each case. Both these men are in first place on the scoring front, with a healthy lead of seven points over Farmer of McGill and Reid of the Navy.

The Redmen however possess much more of a smooth-working machine. They form a compact unit, heartily supporting the high-power line of Farmer, MacDonald and Costigan. Their team-work is now proving the most effective in the league, and if the boys keep it up, the Red colors will again be flying high tonight.

TARS vs. ARMY

The Sailors will try and keep their one point lead over the Army in the other game of the evening. Pee Wee Read, flashy player of the Navy who scored alone and unassisted in the first minute of play last week, will again be in there fighting and weaving. Read is fourth scorer of the league, tied up with Farmer.

A list of the N.D.H.L. Big Ten follows:

	Min.	In	G. A. P. Pen.
Planché, R.C.A.F.	11	9	20
Desbiens, R.C.A.F.	10	10	20

D Coy. Defeats AW-3 In Thrilling Cage Battle

Last night at the Gymnasium, the Intercompany basketball schedule got under way when D Coy. edged out AW-3, 21-18. This was the first game in the new league which has been started this term to decide the ultimate championship of the league. All the teams which finished first and second in last term's sections have been re-divided into three sections, to play off for the title.

In last night's game, the final decision was in the balance until the last minute of play, as two overtime periods were necessary before the matter was settled. Lefcoe Fullerton and Frank starred for the winners.

GYMNASIUM HOURS

The Gym and B. W. & F. Room are free for use of students who wish to engage in voluntary activities during the following hours. Daily from 1.00-2.00 p.m. Mon., Wed. & Friday 4.00-7.00 p.m. Saturday 2.00-5.00 p.m.

McGill Outing Club Plans To Hold Ski Tour Sunday

The M.O.C. is this year again holding Skiing Tours in the Laurentians each Sunday throughout the winter. Next Sunday the 17th, the club has planned to hit the trail from St. Agathe to Mt. Rolland. The expedition is scheduled to leave St. Agathe station at 10.00 A.M. and every McGill student is invited to go. The tour will follow the Maple Leaf Trail to Mt. Rolland. This is one of the finest trails in the Laurentians and those who have not covered it should not miss this opportunity of doing so. Easy climbs and long runs feature the trip which leads over Raspberry Hill, Mt. Fitzgerald, Mt. J.C., Sun Valley etc. The distance of the run is 12 miles. All students who intend to go should bring along their lunch as the club does not have the facilities to prepare lunch in this part of the mountains.

Flyers Lose To Infantry

Hale and Read Pace Footsloggers To 13-5 Victory

Sparked by Tommy Hale, the Infantry swamped the U.A.T.C. Flyers 13-5 yesterday in a wide open hockey game. After three minutes of play in the first period, Humphries scored the first of his three goals to give the Airmen the lead, but a minute later Halford tied it up and before the period was over four more goals were added to the Infantry's total. The next two periods were more even, but the Flyers were outscored 4-2 in each.

SCORING SPREE

In spite of the one-sided score, the Flyers put up a strong fight, and only the brilliant goaltending of Sutherland and Hale's spectacular solo dashes kept the Infantry in a commanding position. Both teams were short-handed, the winners having no substitutes at all. Scoring honours for the winners were well divided, with Hale collecting four goals and two assists Johnny Read three goals and two assists. Duff three and one, Halford two and one, and Dundass one goal. Read also played a strong two-way game throughout. For the Airmen, Humphries scored three goals and collected, while St. Jacques netted the other two.

The next game in the Intramural League takes place today, when Navy seeks its second straight victory at the expense of the Tank Corps.

Hockey Hi-lites

by major m

McGill C.O.T.C. hockey squad, current leaders of the National Defence Hockey League, place third in points scored by marksmen in the loop. Statistics show that the collegians, likewise, are the most heavily penalized squad in the four-team circuit. They face R.C.A.F. Spitfires at the Forum this evening, with Huntingdon Army and Navy clashing in the nightcap.

Heaviest points-making team in the league are the Spitfires, due mainly to their sparkling threesome of Jimmy Planché, Eddy Emberg and Pat Desbiens, who have accounted for over two-thirds of the points accumulated. The latter has been moved to another post this week, so that Herman Gruhn, of the Senior R.C.A.F. team, will replace him.

Huntingdon Army, last in the standing, have the least penalties, showing only 36 minutes in the cooler as compared to McGill's 77, Navy's 71 and Spitfires 51. Team points scoring, combined goals and assists, show R.C.A.F. with 72, 31 goals and 41 assists; Navy with 65 (31-34); McGill 55 (27-28) and Army 44 (21-23). All teams have completed the first half of the schedule, six games.

Frank Boudreau, nephew of Rene Boudreau of Senior Group fame a few years ago with Canadiens, will make his debut with the Navy against Army. He was a standout in the Marl-times. Other changes on the Tars list are Joe Poplowsky in goal in lieu of Ron Pikell, posted elsewhere, and Bill Hodgkinson in place of the injured Lloyd Paulson.

McGill may be short-staffed by losing Herby Owen for the tilt against R.C.A.F. He'll be a full-fledged doctor if he completes his exams this week. There's a chance he'll be through in time to play.

Huntingdon Army are worriedly hoping against hope that the Q.S.H.L. Senior team will be in a lending mood again this week. Minus a couple of regulars as it is, the soldiers' chances of having their quota of senior players from Marty Barry's team aren't bright, in-

Snooker and Ping Pong Tourney Behind Schedule

Nobody knows whether it is due to the recent snow and sleet storm, but the Snooker and Ping-Pong tournament is running way behind schedule. The ping-pong entry list shows that some players have reached the third round whilst others are still in the first round. Action is wanted, and quick.

The cue-wielders have been doing a little more work. Roulston, Meek and Proctor have reached the semi-finals, but there still are a few second-round matches to be played. As soon as the enthusiasts show a little good will, the tournament will be able to proceed at a faster pace.

We've spent part of the holidays on the jolly old hickory boards, visiting all the merry spots on "ye snow-covered mountains" . . . and what a gang of people we met! The Red & White sweaters could be spotted almost everywhere.

In St. Adele, there was a large crowd on the "40" & "80." Browning around the Red Room we saw that ubiquitous character of harvesters memory, "Tiny" Donovan; sporting a green sweater and moving from table to table. He told us a very sad tale. It seems that Tiny spent $18.50 in one single evening, and did not even get drunk. He was on a water-diet when we left.

Talking about the stuff that gets you warm inside, we wonder why Dave C., (the bridge fiend), was staying in bed so late on a certain Saturday morning. Moral: keep some Bromo-Seltzer handy. Even in St. Sauveur it comes handy. Stew A. Pops, and a few others in the same shack were also on the low-road we believe.

Whilst the "Skiddaddlers" were banging on the Red Room's piano, a fellow sporting the M.O.C.'s badge came to us. He wanted to know when Military Training was resumed. "I don't give a hoot about lectures," he said, "I'm enlisting too." Sign of the times. . . .

This M.O.C. stuff reminds us of the Club's new trail. It seems to be quite popular. We were staying in that cute Red house, where the trail cuts the Mt. Rolland Road and the view is so swell. All day

Sun Valley was however the place with the best hills. Mount J.C., with its back to the north wind offered a perfect surface. lowed as much economic and political freedom to the individual. Rossy, Minister of Finance, dealt with the monetary and fiscal aspects of post-war control. Inflation was one of the chief problems to be guarded against, and the question of how monetary and fiscal policies of the Government could control the business cycle was considered at length.

Beaton, leading the Opposition, started by asking for a clearer definition as to what control is. He preferred the term regulate, further stating that some regulation of industry in the post-war period was necessary but not to the degree that the Government was advocating. Manolson, second speaker of the Opposition tried to show how too much government control is contrary to the wishes of the people. He stated that it would only lead to a totalitarian bureaucratic state.

The motion was brought to question after Professor Higgins, Bronfman Professor of Economics, made a summary of what post-war regulation should entail. The bill as read was carried by the Government.

At the supper meeting held before Parliament was called, Commerce students decided to have a sleigh ride followed by a dance at Purvis Hall. Also ratified was the idea of again issuing a "Commerce Daily," and the continuation of the Commerce Bowling League under Gerald Benjamin. Jack Russell, Vice-President of the Commerce Undergraduate Society, presided at the meeting in the absence of Joe Connolly, President, who is ill.

Pen Lost

A green pen was lost in the Daily office just before the Christmas holidays. Will anyone knowing anything of the whereabouts of this pen please get in touch with Dorothy Hopton, at R.V.S. (5)

Mace Circle

The Mace Circle Meeting on Sunday Jan. 17 will start one hour later than usual because of the convent symposium at Zionist Headquarters. Music will start at 3 o'clock, and the regular meeting in the grill at 3.45. (5)

Discarded.

He grabbed around my slender neck,
 I could not call or scream;
 He dragged me to his dingy room
 Where we could not be seen;
 He tore away my flimsy wrap
 And looked upon my form,
 I was so cold and damp and scared,
 While he was hot and warm.
 His feverish lips he pressed to mine,
 I gave him every drop;
 He drained me of my very self,
 I could not make him stop.
 He made me what I am today,
 That's why you find me here—
 A broken bottle thrown away
 That once was full of beer.

During their rest period in the "dug-out," two A.R.P. wardens were having a chat.

"You look very chirpy this morning," said the first. "Had a stroke of luck lately?"

"You bet!" was the smiling reply. "I got a fine parrot for the missus this morning."

"Give me the address," exclaimed the first. "I wouldn't mind making a change like that myself."

A woman and a doctor were standing at the bedside of the woman's unconscious, delirious husband. Suddenly the patient began to shout deliriously: "Go away, go away, you cruel enemies, you fiends, you frauds, you liars, you—"
 "I think he is coming to," said the doctor consolingly. "He is beginning to recognize us."
